

Map of The Autistic Brain

(Tzipporah Campus)

© Tzipporah Johnston – tzipporahjohnston.com

Key

- | | |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Emotional Baggage Store
(Currently at capacity and not accepting new items) 2. Brain Fog machine 3. Fountain of Useless Trivia 4. Control Centre
Please note: operations are disrupted due to energy shortages 5. Fuse Box
Caution: Do Not Overload 6. National Archive of Every Embarrassing Thing I've Ever Said or Done
Busiest between 9pm-8am, so please plan your visit accordingly 7. Library of Misremembered Facts
"It was Agapanthus. No, Asparagus, definitely Asparagus. Actually maybe it was Acanthus. Something like that, anyway" 8. The Hungry Woman Cafe
Open 24/7. Please note we are operating a restricted menu. | 9. The Museum of Monotropism
Obsessions, collections, and obsessive collecting 10. Cat RADAR Tower
Can identify cats up to 100m away 11. Lift to Oubliette
(Out of Order) 12. Chute to Oubliette
(One-way only) 13. Audio Installation
"This week's pretty busy but it should ease up next week", on permanent loop till I die 14. Gallery of Irrational Fears
Including Mushrooms, Leaving the Iron On, and All Human Interaction 15. Broom Cupboard of Social Skills
Awaiting stock 16. Oubliette
Where PINs, names, and important tasks go to die |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|